

Danielle Manno
Finance and Operations Associate

Danielle Manno is the finance and operations associate for Partnership for Prevention. She provides financial and administrative support for the organization, as well as maintains the office infrastructure. Danielle obtained a great deal of her training freelancing for SoHO Publishing Co., while attending high school. Upon graduation she moved to the DC Metro area to attend college. In conjunction with a full class schedule, she worked in a day care center where she received additional administrative training. Danielle has received both an associate degree in Liberal Arts and bachelor's degree in Business Administration.
